

CASSINO CAPTURED BY BRITISH 8TH ARMY

The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

YESTERDAY was kindly to the Allied cause in widely separated theaters: The German evacuation of the powerful mountain stronghold of Cassino in Italy, the spectacular capture of strategic Myittha airbase from the Japanese in northern Burma and, last but perhaps most important, the cessation of the Detroit foreman's strike on our home-front.

The forced withdrawal of the Hitlerites from Cassino—which is part of a general retreat from the Gustav line—represents a solid victory for Allied arms in one of the war's toughest spots. Cassino, strongest defense in the Gustav line, had stood us off since January amidst bloody fighting.

The Nazis are falling back on the Adolf Hitler line, which is the next and most formidable obstacle between the Allies and Rome. There the enemy will try to make a stand, and a great battle may be expected. The Allies already have surged through the Gustav line and are in contact at many points with the elaborate defenses which have been named after Hitler because of their strength.

The Germans are expecting the Allies to launch a fresh offensive from the Anzio beachhead in conjunction with the drive on the Adolf Hitler defenses. It wouldn't be surprising if this developed, thus placing the main German battle line in a nasty position between two drives.

The capture of Myittha airbase is a great stroke. It was achieved by American and Chinese forces which now are besieging the city itself.

This column yesterday explained the importance of Myittha. It's the main Japanese base in northern Burma, and its fall would be calculated to compel enemy evacuation of that whole area, thus permitting the Allies to join up the Burma and Ledo roads and so re-establish China's land life-line to India.

Our colorful Brig. Gen. Frank Merrill and his Yankee jungle marauders played a great part in capture of the airbase. Meanwhile our Gen. (Uncle Joe) Stilwell is driving down from the northwest on Myittha with his American and Chinese troops. We are racing against time to evict the Japanese from northern Burma before the monsoon rains descend shortly.

ONE IS ALMOST GLAD that we had the Detroit foreman's strike, because it has given us a splendid example of how quickly the sturdy American workman can subordinate what he regards as his own best interests when he learns that his cessation of labor is jeopardizing the war effort.

The strike was called off almost immediately Gen. H. H. Arnold has made it known that it represents

TAKE ME, TAKE MY BABY--

REPORTING FOR INDUCTION into the armed services at Fort Sheridan, Illinois, Albert Caponetto, 29, an auto mechanic, arrived with his 11-month-old baby in his arms. Said Caponetto: "It's all I can do. ## Only The Wash Of Waves Heard During Funeral At Sea

By ELMONT WAITE,
Associated Press War Correspondent

ABOARD CARRIER FLAGSHIP, Central Pacific—Folks like Mrs. Mary Mabel Arbaugh of Akron, O., and George Leonard Schuetz of Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., doubtless already know their sons die bravely, when hot shrapnel from Japanese guns flies fatally close.

They might like to know, too, how their sons are buried.

Your boy, Mrs. Arbaugh—Carl Vincent Heighon, Jr., 876 Edge st., Akron—and Wallace James Schuetz of Wisconsin Rapids, were rear seamen in carrier planes. Both were fatally wounded over Truk.

All the loudspeakers on this big ship announced the time of their services and almost all work ceased. It was like a town of several thousand people closing all the stores and offices for the mayor's funeral.

The boys' shipmates crowded, as closely as they could stand, into the big cleared space along the rail.

Protestant services were held for Carl Vincent, and Catholic services for Mr. Schuetz's boy.

Big American flags were draped over the bodies as they lay in the center of the cleared space. The Protestant chaplain read the 23rd Psalm and part of Revelations 14:13.

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth; yea, saith the spirit, that they may rest from their labors; and their works do follow them."

Carl didn't die just so the rest of us could continue to live, the chaplain said. He lived and fought and died "that we might lead lives that are decent and honest and just and kind; and if we all try to

NAZIS BUILD SECOND WALL INSIDE FRANCE

Hitler's Orders Are to Hold It At Any Cost, Correspondent Says

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is the first dispatch from Larry Allen, Pulitzer prize winning Associated Press war correspondent, now being repatriated after 20 months in Italian and German prison camps. Allen won the Pulitzer prize in 1942 for his stories with the British Mediterranean fleet. He was captured when he accompanied a British commando raid on Tobruk in Libya on Sept. 13, 1942.)

By LARRY ALLEN
ABOARD THE GRIPSHOLM AT BARCELONA, May 18.—Nazi Germany, apparently expecting the Allies to smash through the Atlantic wall defenses, is concentrating on completion of a second great system of fortifications deep in France, and has told her soldiers the line must be held "until the last man."

As our invasion nears, Germany's vast network of communications still is largely intact despite heavy Allied bombings.

Her great railroad terminals in all sections of the country and through the eastern part of France constantly are crowded with thousands of troops moving between the western and eastern fronts.

I have just come out of Germany into the clear air of freedom after eight months as a prisoner of war in concentration camps, cellars and dungeons of the greater Reich—after spending a year in Italian prison camps—and enroute I saw in detail how smoothly and efficiently the German communications system is working.

In all the heavily-bombed cities there is considerable destruction of factory areas and residential districts, but all the way from the Polish corridor to Marseille I didn't see a single railroad station destroyed or even seriously damaged.

I passed through Poznan, Gorlitz, Dresden, Munich, Stuttgart, Karlsruhe and other points, and at some of them I was told that as many as 52 passenger trains roll through the stations every 24 hours.

(A large part of Allen's route was across southern and eastern Germany where Allied bombings have not been as severe as in other parts. The remainder of the route to France was across the upper Rhineland where quick repairs may have been made.)

The German communications system, if anything, appeared to be better organized now than when I saw it eight months ago. How-

AS ALLIES ADVANCE IN ITALY

ALLIED OFFENSIVE IN ITALY, highlighted by a German withdrawal to the second defense line, the Hitler Line, continues with progress shown on this map. The Allied assault forces have smashed the Gustav Line and cleared the enemy from virtually all the Liri valley. Meanwhile, tank and infantry reserves constantly pour across the Rapido river, near Cassino, to bolster the British Eighth Army, which extended its bridgehead.

Details of the accident are not known. Officials at the field informed the parents that their son's body would be sent home in a few days.

Corp. Kovich attended Goshen Township High school until entering service April 16, 1943. He received basic training at Miami Beach, Fla., and Keesler field, Miss., before going to Laredo, Texas.

McGraw Plant At E. PALESTINE SOLD

EAST PALESTINE, May 18.—The deal for the sale of the old McGraw Tire & Rubber Co. factory buildings was closed Wednesday afternoon and the purchasers expect to begin the manufacture of vital war material as soon as repairs are made and machinery installed, Atty. E. L. Lyon, representing C. F. Adamson, owner, announced.

The factory site, which contains about 245,000 square feet of floor space, was purchased by three Alliance industrialists who recently were granted incorporation papers to operate as the McGraw Mfg. Co.

About 20 carpenters, electricians and plumbers are now making repairs at the plant. Machinery will be installed when the repairs are made. The firm plans to employ about 300 workers, Atty. Lyon said.

The factory building was purchased by C. F. Adamson, head of the Adamson Mfg. Co., several years after the manufacture of automobile and truck tires was discontinued in 1922. The McGraw company at one time employed more than 1,800 persons and was the major industry in the East Palestine district.

Yank Troops Take Formia From Nazis

(By Associated Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, May 18.—The British Eighth army has captured the fortress ruins of Cassino and the battered Benedictine monastery, and American troops 25 miles to the southwest have seized the coastal hinge city of Formia, the Allied command announced today.

"The Gustav line now has ceased to exist," the announcement declared.

The double victory toppled strongpoints at both ends of the fiercely-fought Nazi line in Italy.

British troops slammed into Cassino—which had withstood siege since January—while Poles seized Monastery hill. A substantial portion of the elite German first parachute division—the Green Devils—was wiped out in the two strongholds, a special announcement declared.

The German defenders of Cassino were encircled by tactics which avoided heavy casualties that would have resulted from frontal assaults such as were beaten back two months ago.

A special Allied announcement declared "the enemy has been completely outmaneuvered by the Allied armies in Italy following the original breach of the Gustav line by the Fifth army on May 14, and the subsequent rapid advance of French and American troops through the mountains.

The hitherto impregnable Cassino was doomed yesterday when the Eighth army sliced across Highway 6 two miles west of the battered town, cutting the enemy's retreat route.

A Berlin broadcast early this morning said the Cassino defenders had evacuated the town last night. Despite the enemy announcement, however, the Allied command reported some resistance.

CONFUSION MAKES A BAD POLICY

Chester Bowles, OPA administrator, has been praised for ridding his agency of much of the characteristic Washington muddling of the last decade. But the confusion caused by the latest switch in point values has taken some of the shine off his accomplishment.

If Mr. Bowles knew OPA was going to announce suspension of ration values on most meat, why was he telling the public simultaneously in a nationally circulated magazine that this would be impossible? If he knew the suspension was going to be temporary, as he more recently has explained to a congressional committee it will be, why did he not include the word "temporary" in the announcement?

In short, the resulting confusion has given rise to doubts about Mr. Bowles' status as an independent administrator which will increase the problems of his job. Confusion makes a bad policy, even when the intent is good. The suspicion is roused that Mr. Bowles may have been the victim of the muddling he was resolved to eradicate in his administration of an important public agency, that he was obliged to lend himself to a manipulation which had more to do with politics than with the distribution of food.

NO PLACE TO GO

The threat of the America First organization to nominate its own presidential candidate sounds too good to be true. These ultra-nationalists would be performing a public service if they put themselves in political quarantine during the national election.

They have no place to go. No presidential possibility has given them any encouragement. Neither major party will give them any, either. The objection is not to their professed nationalism, as such, but to its accompaniments. They are nationalists in the pattern of the German Nazis, more interested in destruction of opportunity for their enemies than advancement of the nation's composite strength.

They have tried to embarrass various public figures with their support and have been turned down. Their existence as a vocal minority has given rise to the charge that their support is being solicited on the sly, but there is no evidence to prove it. They stand repudiated in every quarter, victims of their own inability to understand that the doctrines they advocate are as alien to the majority of Americans as representative democracy and tolerance are alien to the European organizations they so closely resemble.

APROPOS OF INVASION

The strongly worded telegram to the president of the Foremen's Association of America that the strike of members in 13 key war plants in the Detroit area is handicapping prosecution of the war conveys the official opinion of the war and navy departments on a momentous subject.

Most of the world's population at this moment is awaiting the beginning of one of history's crucial battles. The invasion attempt is predicted on the war production of the United States. Without continuous production, it could not have been planned; without continuous production, it cannot succeed.

The vast stores of material piled up by the army and navy against D-day will disappear at a tremendous rate when the historic battle is finally joined on the continent of Europe. Without assurance of replacement, the men responsible for the conduct of the battle would be deprived of the confidence they need.

There has been no time since the United States went to war when work stoppages were excusable. But now, at the zero hour of the climactic battle, any work stoppage for any reason whatever must be judged as a betrayal of the faith placed in their countrymen by the millions of American men who stand ready to give their lives for the success of the severest trial of strength and determination the United States ever has undergone.

SHOWDOWN ON A MOOT QUESTION

On the assumption that congress, having forced a showdown on the moot question of uninhibited luxury spending by a 30 percent tax on night clubs, will not change its mind, its position is easy to defend—which is the reason congressmen are defending it.

It is unfortunate if the effect of the tax is to throw night club entertainers out of work, but they need not lack for other and more useful work to do. It is unfortunate for proprietors of night clubs must close up, as they are doing wholesale in the larger night club centers, such as New York, but they are not the first to be inconvenienced by the handicap of heavy taxation. It is not unfortunate that their patrons should be unable in many cases to divert themselves as usual, or that their morale should suffer. There are other uses for their money which would be at least as beneficial to their own morale and infinitely more beneficial to the morale of the citizenry at large, including that portion of it in uniform. A highly recommended use is, of course, more War Bonds.

THE STARS SAY:

For Friday, May 19

AN AUSPICIOUS day for forging ahead, with all resources at command, in attaining cherished goals, whether they be financial, professional, business expansion or in all social, public, romantic and personal aspirations. In the latter there will be increased popularity and prestige, helpful to the achievement of promotion, enhanced social aims, public esteem and standing, with probably much festivity in celebration. But in all maintain balance and common sense and meet antagonisms or opposition with good grace and sound judgment, lest impulses or emotions carry on to excess and good fortune awaits.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for the fulfillment and gratification of their highest hopes and wishes, whether they be in finance, business, professions, or particularly in the expanded popularity and power in the realm of social, domestic and romantic prestige, with much by way of celebrating this fair fortune. There may be definite assaults from disagreeable or antagonistic persons, but compromise with such by using good sense and calm judgment. Emotional or impulsive reactions may prove detrimental and unprofitable. The accent on festivities may concern romantic engagements or marriages.

A child born on this day may have great ambition, with the efficiency and sound qualities to attain them, against some opposition. It should be generous, kindly and enjoy happy, social and romantic relations.

WASHINGTON—The battle to knock the daylight out of Daylight Saving time (or "War time," as the President prefers to call it) is on again.

Generalissimo of the anti-War time battle forces is Rep. Clarence Cannon, of Elsberry, Mo., one-time professor of history at Stephens college, Columbia, Mo. As chairman of the House Appropriations committee, Mr. Cannon carries considerable weight, but the lost hour between daylight and standard time has nothing to do with appropriations. It's simply that he has made it his baby and is doing all he can to bring it to lusty manhood. He isn't getting a preponderance of co-operation in Congress, but he is getting some of the biggest mail bags on the Hill today.

It is generally conceded that the principal opposition to War or Daylight Saving time comes from rural areas, but Cannon's mail pouches indicate that all the objection isn't from those quarters by any means.

A woman from Philadelphia writes: "Thanks and hope for success in the good work to try to abolish daylight saving time. It is the greatest minor inconvenience of the war. (I have a son in the Navy—I'm not talking about major troubles.)"

Another woman, in Salt Lake City, said: "It just gives the reckless adolescent age an earlier start by one hour on the never-ending quest for thrills and excitement. . . I have five sons out fighting for right and freedom—one made the supreme sacrifice last November. No sacrifice is too great for our country—but it certainly is unnecessary to keep the clocks ahead an hour."

In Cannon's mail, it's strange how frequently parents and others blame War time for a share in Juvenile delinquency. Generally the idea seems to be that youngsters wander out in the daylight hours after dinner and get into trouble before they realize it's bedtime. With dark coming down an hour earlier, these writers feel, the children would stay close to home and hit the hay before they ran foul of temptation.

Others declare that the claim that War time saves electric power is ridiculous.

An Olean, N. Y., correspondent writes: "I can't see where electricity or anything else is saved. A lot of people have to arise before daylight to be at their jobs and must burn lights."

A Leesburg, Va., woman argues that the lawmakers should see children going to school along the country roads, "some with flashlights, some with candles, and some just lighting matches."

From Sacramento, Calif., Cannon has a telegram stating briefly that California, on three occasions, has voted against Daylight Saving time, "or in other words burning the candle on the wrong end."

An increase in crime, health, the death rate, traffic accidents, nervous breakdowns, ruined crops, and agricultural shortages are just a few of the things Rep. Cannon's correspondents claim as a result of having moved the clock an hour ahead.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Water Treatment Effective Remedy

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
IN THESE days of doctor shortages I am impressed with the ignorance of and neglect of simple household remedial relief that can be obtained from hot and cold water.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

water. Somebody in the house has a bad pain and you can't get the doctor. The druggist won't sell you any painkillers and aspirin does not give relief. That is the situation.

The house mother who has to treat the patient wrings her hands and deplores the emergency situation, the lack of doctors, the hardness of the narcotic laws and the patient goes on suffering. And all the time if she has a sink with running water or a well and a stove and a few towels she could give relief such as rich people in the best of times went miles and spent large fees to obtain.

Priessnitz's Discoveries

Long ago in the little Austrian village of Grafenberg a peasant boy named Vincenz Priessnitz was kicked by a horse, thrown to the ground and the heavy cart passed over his chest, fracturing some ribs. The local doctor said he was crippled for life. The boy could not accept this verdict. He was wracked with pain and bent over with deformity, but his determination to get well was strong.

As he lay on his bed of pain he remembered an experience of his childhood. He had gone out in the mountain paths near his home and lay down by a spring when he saw a young roe which had been shot through the thigh drag itself into the spring. It got the wounded thigh in position so that it was entirely covered by the cold flowing water. It appeared to obtain relief. Day after day he returned to the spring and was rewarded by seeing the wounded roe return also and renew the bath. And day by day he rejoiced to see it improve and finally regain its healthy movements.

Young Vincenz had an oaken arm chair brought to his bedside and pressing his abdomen on it he gradually in successive trials forced his ribs back into place. Then he had bandages wrung out of cold water and laid over his painful muscles. His discomfort subsided and before long he was well and whole again.

He became a crusader for water treatment. He applied his remedies to his neighbors who had sprains and bruises or neuralgias. His fame grew. Patients came to him from all over Bohemia and Moravia. Finally he was able to build a magnificent hospital for water treatment and his income was enormous. As he lay dying he was urged to have a doctor; but the doctors had never been very kind to him. "No doctor," said the sick man. "Is there not God and cold water?"

Bandage Simple to Apply

One of his remedies is the Priessnitz bandage. Its application is absurdly simple. For any pain—abdominal, chest, joint, sprains—wring a piece of cloth out of cold water and lay it over the affected part, and cover it snugly with a larger towel pinned in place. I have seen more than once an attack of gallstones relieved this way without morphine.

For insomnia a sheet wrung out of lukewarm water laid on the bed, the patient put down on it and wrapped in it from neck to toes and then covered with blankets will often do more than half a dozen hypnotic pills.

Affusions—cold water poured from a height over the back of a patient—will relieve asthma and a dozen other ailments.

I find in an issue of "War Medicine" for December, 1943, a recommendation for the "hip bath" to tone up muscular fatigue. The patient is seated in a chair, feet on a high stool, and water sprayed from a hose over the abdomen from the umbilicus down. Starting with warm water the temperature was gradually increased for five minutes and then increasingly cold water was used. The result was improvement in visual acuity, muscle balance, in blood pressure and increase in red blood cells.

The hot water bag and electric pad are also in the armamentarium of the "house mother."

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many suffer from nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

A Model is Murdered ~ BABS LEE

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

"So he told you it was business those nights he was seeing Syria Verne?" Grange said, looking at the blonde.

"It was business," Dancer repeated. "I wanted her to do me a favor. I kinda had to talk her into it."

"With a gun?" Argus suggested.

"You guys think you're so wise," snarled the harassed Dancer, "but you try pinnin' this moider on me and see what happens to yuh. You'll be sorry you ever mentioned it. I got such an alibi it'd make you guys look silly, see?"

"Why not tell us about it then and save yourself some trouble?" Grange queried.

"Nuttin' doin'! If I gotta use it I will—but if I don't—what I always say is, what people don't know won't kill 'em."

Coming from you that seems a sound commentary, Argus thought to himself. Then, aloud, he said: "This alibi wouldn't have anything to do with the Whitson Club, would it, Dancer?"

Martinielli looked surprised. "More kiddin', Steele? What would I do around a jent like dat?"

"That's what I've been wonderin'," retorted Argus, "ever since I found some matches from there on your table."

"Oh dem—well, you know how it is—always picking up things like dat—maybe one of my customers left 'em on one of the tables in the club."

"Sure," purred Argus. "Maybe they did."

"If you want to ask any more questions you can call my lawyer. Dat's what I hire him for."

"O.K.," said Grange. "But watch your step. I'm not finished with you, Martinielli."

Out in the fresh air again, Grange surveyed the Park. Stripped of its summery greenery it looked stark and cold in the slanting rays of the afternoon sun.

"I'd like to paint it just like that," he told Argus, feelingly.

"It looks pretty bleak to me," Argus said.

"What did you make of Dancer and that clinging vine, Mabel?"

"I don't know," answered Grange. "I'd like to take him down to headquarters for a little sweatin'. Say, what was the idea of saying we'd found his fingerprints in that Verne dame's place? Trying to make Mabel jealous?"

"I thought it might be an idea."

"It was," said Grange. "I think I'll have a talk with her alone some time. See how the land lies."

"Funny, I had that idea, too," Argus mused. "That coin-tossin' guy you called Lucky—"

"Lucky Gambirini?"

"Yes. From Ellen Curtis' description he sounds like the man she saw talking to Syria Verne. That's why I pulled that gag about Syria telling me that Lucky'd threatened her."

Grange frowned. "I'll have a talk with him, too. Can I drive you some place?"

Argus consulted his watch. "Five to four. Ellen's expected me at a fashion show at the Park hotel at four." He stepped into the police car. "Step on it, James, and don't spare the sirens."

A few minutes past four, Argus arrived at the Park hotel. Passing from the subdued outer lobby to the main lobby, Argus cornered an erect bell boy, with enough gold braid on his uniform to make a Goering green with envy. He inquired the way to the ballroom where the fashion show was to be held. Upstairs he encountered a hat check girl and after checking his coat and hat, he again inquired the way. This time he asked for the models' dressing room. He was told to go down the corridor, turn left, then right. He did as he was told. But upon arriving at his destination he found three closed doors confronting him.

"Enie, meenie, meenie, moe," he said to himself and rapped on the "moe" door with his knuckles.

"Come in," said a muffled voice.

Argus turned the knob and pushed the door open. A girl standing inside was in the process of pulling a dark dress over her head. She continued to struggle, unaware of her appreciative audience. For a second the detective's eyes strayed beyond the vision. He saw a big room filled with girls in various stages of undress. Racks of clothing lined the walls and here and there were dressing tables. So far no one had noticed Argus standing there.

The model who had been in the deadlock with her dress finally managed to pull it off. Her face was flushed from the effort. The color didn't abate when she saw Argus grinning at her from the doorway.

"What do you want?" she asked sharply, covering herself belatedly.

"I was looking for Miss Curtis," said Argus.

Several of the other models turned and saw the detective for the first time.

"Get him out of here!" they screamed in unison. "How can we get dressed?"

"Oh, go right ahead, I don't mind," smiled Argus.

"I'll find Ellen," said the girl. "But you wait outside!" She punctuated her command by slamming the door in his face. Argus paced the corridor and whistled tunelessly. He broke off abruptly. From behind a closed door on his right, he heard a feminine voice.

A woman was saying: "It's blackmail. Of course I won't give you a cent. Go ahead and do whatever you want." The door opened. Argus drew back into the shadows of another doorway.

A southern drawl answered the first voice: "Now, don't be so hasty, honey; I just thought that you oughta know." A small figure stepped out of the room and slammed the door after her. It was Dorry, young Carstairs' girl friend. She disappeared around the corner before Argus had a chance to move.

Just then Ellen came up to him. "Hello," she said. "I thought you'd never get here."

"Hello, Redhead! Sorry I'm late. Inspector Grange and I went callin'."

"On Pierre Sturgis?"

"Yes—and some others. Fine place he's got up there. I watched his assistant shooting some pictures."

"Was the model pretty?"

"Well, now that you mention it—" said Argus. "She was wearin'—"

"So you didn't notice her face," Ellen finished for him. "Here's your ticket for the fashion show. I got you a floor table." She handed it to him. "By the way, what do you mean by barging into the dressing room and scaring the girls half to death?"

"You told me to meet you at the models' dressing room."

"I know, but the entrance I meant is on the other side, near the ballroom. There's a foyer there. This is the back entrance."

"They didn't give me a map when I checked my hat and coat. I inquired and was directed here. Any way, I'm glad I'm not so bright about some things. Ellen, do you know a model by the name of Cynthia Lane?"

"Yes," she said, making a face. "I know her."

"You don't sound as if you liked her very much."

"I don't," declared Ellen frankly. "Why? What about her?"

Argus explained what he had just overheard. Then he told Ellen about meeting Cynthia at Sturgis' studio that morning.

"She was trying to work out a routine on Carstairs, Senior. She wanted him to put her picture on the outside of his catsup product."

"She got the contract, too," Ellen said. "She arrived at the fashion show bragging about it. Then she demanded a separate room to dress in. Said the room we were using was too crowded. She got it, too."

"So she got the contract," repeated Argus. "And Dorry just used the word blackmail. I wonder—"

Argus lit a cigaret. "The way Carstairs glared at Miss Lane this morning, I'd bet a million that he never gave her that contract because he wanted to."

"There's a rumor," said Ellen, "that old man Carstairs was fond of Syria. And I found out something else, too. Honey Green, a model who lives in New Jersey, said that until about a month ago, she used to see Syria every Saturday afternoon on the Jersey train."

"Yes. Where was she going? Did your friend know?"

"No. Honey said that she always got off before Syria did."

"Might be something," Argus admitted.

"I have to run now," chirped Ellen. "You come back here and meet me during intermission. Now, remember, when you come out of the ballroom turn right, not left. Oh, you'll probably see Pierre Sturgis and Roger Flagg here this afternoon. They're going to judge the winning costumes along with Johnnie Powers and Harry Conover. See you later." Ellen leaned over and kissed him on the cheek, then she vanished through one of the doors. (To be continued.)

Washington Round-up

News and Views, Briefly On What's Going On In Capital

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 18.—There's a new plan underway to assure home heat for this winter.

The War Production board has approved a proposal that the government buy up vast supplies of soft coal to keep the mines rolling at high pitch all summer and have an adequate supply ready for homes this winter. The only question to be ironed out is the price schedules under which the Defense Supplies Corp. would make the purchases.

MEAT SUPPLIES

The Bureau of Agricultural Economics predict the per capita meat supply will drop off 10 pounds for the last half of 1944. If the prediction is borne out, civilian supplies would be at the level of 1943 when nearly all meat was rationed. But the bureau notes that prospects for other food supplies, in the next few months, are "relatively good."

TREATIES

Sen. Gillette (D. Iowa) says there's little chance that the senate will approve a proposal to give the house joint responsibility with the senate in the ratification of peace treaties. Such agreements now are subject to a two-thirds approval by the senate and a move has been begun in the house to amend the Constitution so as to provide for majority approval in the house and the senate.

LEND-LEASE

President Roosevelt has signed the third extension of the Lend-Lease act—the biggest swap the world has known. His signature extends the aid program until June 30, 1945.

The mechanism of Big Ben, giant London clock, includes a 13½-foot pendulum, numerals two feet high.

Newsmen Guessing Over Bricker's Disappearance

COLUMBUS, May 18.—A nice, deep mystery pervaded the statehouse today.
Where's Gov. John W. Bricker? He hasn't arrived at his office at noon and reporters became curious. A private secretary said he was out of town. Another secretary said he thought the governor, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, was at the mansion working on a speech.
Someone called the mansion. The governor wasn't in. He was, the voice at the other end said, gone—maybe to Pittsburgh.

STREETCAR, BUS STRIKE IS CALLED

Cleveland Transit Workers Vote To Cease Operations Saturday

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, May 18.—A tieup of Cleveland's mass transportation system was imminent today after AFL unionists of the City Transit system voted by a margin of 7 to 1 to cease operation of street cars and buses at midnight Saturday.
Following announcement of the results of the strike balloting, CTS General Manager Walter J. McCarter appealed for immediate steps to establish emergency transportation service for war workers.
"Every effort should be made between now and Saturday to establish emergency transportation service, particularly to war plants, in order that stoppage of war production may be held to a minimum," McCarter said.

The strike action was precipitated by a breakdown in wage negotiations between the transit board and the AFL Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America.
The board last week announced an increase of two cents an hour for operators of two-man vehicles and five cents an hour for operators of one-man vehicles, bring the scale to 96 cents and $1.06 an hour, respectively. The board maintained the new rates represented the average of wages paid for similar work in comparable cities.

The union demanded a blanket increase of seven cents an hour and the strike vote was called when the transit board refused to submit the dispute to arbitration as proposed by the union.

Forrestal Becomes Official Navy Head

Believes Safe Deposit Box Holds Gas Coupons

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 18.—James V. Forrestal, seaman second class in World War I, financier before World War II and under-secretary of the navy since 1940, today is officially the number one naval man.
President Roosevelt had nominated him following Knox's death and yesterday the senate confirmed the nomination.
The fourth to hold that portfolio during the tenure of Mr. Roosevelt in the White House, Forrestal held his first news conference yesterday. He marked it with the announcement that a destroyer will be named for his predecessor, and that the outer Pacific defenses of Japan have been beaten down to the level of a "line of defense in name only."
American sea forces, he said, have penetrated 1,500 miles within the enemy defense perimeter extending from the North Pacific Kuriles through the mid-Pacific Eastern Marshalls to the Bismarck archipelago.
And, bearing out the news of the heavy assault on the Japanese by the greatest navy in history, Lt. Gen. Alexander A. Vandegrift, commander of the Marine corps, predicted new blows will be hurled against Japan, possibly very soon.

The strike began Wednesday afternoon, involving 100 welders, including 50 women, over a wage dispute. More than 200 employees were affected by the strike this morning.

Editor's Wife Dead

CLEVELAND, May 18.—Mrs. Charlotte Welch Irwin, 43, wife of Spencer D. Irwin, associate editor of the Plain Dealer, died today.

She was a widely-known teacher and lecturer. A native of Talence, France, she came to the United States in 1918 as an exchange student.

CASSINO

They reduced it to ruins by a gigantic aerial bombardment and New Zealand and other troops broke into the town. But the Germans held then.
Lynn Heinzeling, Associated Press war correspondent, said British big guns opened up against the ancient monastery yesterday with one of the heaviest bombardments ever seen in the Mediterranean theater.

Tanks supported the British troops in a stab north from the Pignataro area to Highway 6. While the British were striking a mile and a half across the Liri valley to reach the vital route, immediately northwest of Cassino, Polish troops were capturing Hills 593 and 569.

Key Point Threatened
Hill 593 has been the northern hinge of both of the enemy's two major defensive fortifications—the Gustav and the Hitler lines—and the Germans have been counter-attacking violently to regain it.

American troops on the Fifth army's left wing near the Tyrrhenian sea coast slashed into the lofty Aurunci mountain mass, forming the southern end of the Hitler line, and captured 4,500-foot Monte Ruazzo, three miles north of the coastal city of Formia.
The Americans also were said to be within possibly two miles of Formia from the northeast.

The American troops who chased the enemy from the crest of the slopes of Monte Ruazzo last were reported within two miles of Liri—a road junction commanding the only route of retreat for the enemy troops in the Formia area as well

Fire Kills Two Tots

VAN WERT, May 18.—Five-month-old Sarah Marie Hamrick and her brother, Forest Eugene, three, were burned to death in a fire which destroyed their home at nearby Wilshire township. Their parents Mr. and Mrs. Forest Hamrick, were blowing when the tragedy occurred.

TRY THE SALEM NEWS

As Gaeta, Itri is 65 airline miles from the Anzio beachhead.
As a result of this advance, the enemy was said to be confronted with two possibilities—either throwing in heavy reinforcements on a gamble of holding that keypoint or fleeing northward along the Appian way and abandoning the Gaeta point big guns which for weeks have sent shells whistling into the lower Garigliano valley.

Probe Hitler Line

An official announcement said the Allies were in contact with the Hitler line at many points after driving through most of the first enemy defense—the Gustav line.
French forces captured Esperia, an outpost of the Hitler line in the central sector between the Eighth army and the Americans of the Fifth army, operating near the coast of the Tyrrhenian sea.

The American forces, sweeping at least three miles west from Sestellonate, approached within fighting distance of the enemy's Appian way stronghold of Formia.

Yesterday the Yankee troops drove the enemy from the towns of Trivio and Maranola, and reached a point only a little more than two miles from Formia. The Americans were said to be threatening the town from both the east and north.

Thus, the Allied troops steadily were driving the enemy back all along the 25-mile battle line from the sea to beyond Cassino.

"The battle for the Gustav line is drawing to a close and the battle for the Adolf line is about to commence," the daily communicate said.

OHIO BANK GROUP ELECTS OFFICERS

Paul Eliot, Mansfield, Is President; Salem Man Heads Division

(By Associated Press) COLUMBUS, May 18.—Paul M. Eliot of Mansfield, vice president of the Ohio Bankers association, today was elevated to the presidency during the association's 54th annual meeting here. He succeeds Emerson J. Boyd of Warren.

Howard C. Hudson of Wilmington was named vice president and Rodney P. Lien of Cleveland was re-elected treasurer.

Dr. Willard E. Atkins, professor of economics at New York university, told the bankers that in the post-war era international monetary controls would not be too helpful if political instability and unbalanced budgets existed in Europe.

Ohio's bankers were urged yesterday to discourage cashing of War bonds during the postwar era.

Eliot told the bankers "we cannot afford to have an avalanche of redemptions of these securities. It is to our interest to discourage their redemption. If large amounts are redeemed, the banks will only add to their portfolios of bonds to replace those redeemed."

E. D. Reese of Newark urged a broadening of the financial life of banks and suggested that bankers prepare now to engage in postwar activity.

Other Ohio members of the American Bankers association elected included:

E. J. Boyd of Warren, member of the executive council; P. R. Peters of Lancaster, member of the nominating committee; H. E. McFadden of Steubenville, alternate member of the nominating committee; D. Weigel of Springfield, vice president of the Savings Division for Ohio; L. H. Colley of Salem, vice president of the National Bank Division for Ohio; and H. B. Yarnall of Beverly, vice president of the State Division for Ohio.

Given Purple Heart

EAST LIVERPOOL, May 18.—The War department today advised Mrs. Pearl Knowlton that her husband, Pfc. William Knowlton, 24, an infantryman, has been awarded the Purple Heart after being wounded March 16 in the South Pacific area.

NAZIS BUILD

ever I didn't see the Berlin area. One of the Reich's greatest criminals for the movement of troops to the eastern front is the city of Poznan. It has been raided several times by American bombers and aircraft factories have been destroyed—but there was not a pane of glass out of the railroad station or a single line of trackage blown up.

Sabotage in Germany is virtually non-existent. The only Polish resistance is underground. But when the Allies strike at France I believe there will be a great uprising.

The Nazis in occupied France now are battling a widespread wave of terrorism.

Even der Fuehrer got a headache from the Berlin bombings and moved with the entire German high command and most of the ministries in the mountains near Salzburg.

The morale of the German people under heavy bombing is holding up well—but they are tired and sick of war.

Hitler and his ferrets have the German people terrorized.

The War Today

"one of the most serious setbacks the air-force has had since its inception"—a setback so grave that it might even affect invasion operations. His statement was independent of the merits of the case—just a great soldier's expert assay of effects of the cancellation of the strike made without regard to the workers' claims. Only the interests of the country and the Allied cause were considered on either hand.

Gen. Arnold's blunt frankness and the foreman's quick and loyal response, constitute a grand day's work for the war effort! There's no manner of doubt that had the strike continued after the air chief's disclosure of the danger, it would have given great aid and comfort to the enemy.

As it is we leave the Germans in the same condition of apprehension that existed yesterday. Then Lt. General Kurt Dittmar, Nazi radio commentator, admitted that the Hitlerian forces might be flung back both in Russia and in Western Europe. Other commentators showed wear and tear of nerves.

As a matter of fact it's an understatement to say we leave the Hitlerites in the same state of anxiety. We leave them in far greater fear, for they've had an exhibition of solidarity which will further weaken their hope that dissension among us may bring them relief.

HINT SETTLEMENT IN DRAFT DISPUTE

(By Associated Press) COLUMBUS, May 18.—Col. C. W. Goble, Ohio Selective Service director, said he would send an officer to Wilmington today to investigate the mass resignation of Clinton county's only draft board.

Goble reported he received a letter of resignation yesterday signed by all five members of the board, of which J. E. Orebaugh is chairman. Resignation was in protest of a state Selective Service headquarters' order to postpone induction of a Wilmington bank teller, Goble said the letter stated. He said it was the first case where an entire board had quit.

The officer expressed confidence any difficulty could be worked out satisfactorily.

Gen. Craig Is Ill

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Gen. Malin Craig, 69-year-old former army chief-of-staff, is a patient at Walter Reed Army hospital. In making this known today, hospital officials declined to discuss Craig's illness, but said his condition was "favorable."

ALLIES TAKE NEW JAPANESE AIRBASE

Myitkyina Airdrome Falls; Yank, Chinese Forces Besiege City

(By Associated Press) A spectacular jungle maneuver by Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's American and Chinese soldiers has toppled an important airdrome from Japanese control, placed the main enemy base in north Burma under siege and narrowed the gap between converging Allied armies in Burma and China to less than 80 air miles.

Southeast Asia Allied headquarters announced today Stilwell's forces captured Myitkyina airdrome after a 20-day forced march and now are besieging Myitkyina city, terminus of the important Mandalay railroad.

Immediately after the airdrome was secured, gliders and transport planes landed American engineers and Chinese troops. Brig. Gen. Frank Merrill's Raiders participated in the surprise stroke which "completely caught the Japanese completely by surprise and only slight resistance was offered," the Allied communique said.

Fall of Myitkyina would threaten to collapse the entire Japanese position in northern Burma and remove an important obstacle in the campaign to link the new Ledo road with the old Burma road to China.

Eighty airline miles east, Chinese troops streaming west of the Salween river swept through several new positions in an apparent pincer movement on a Japanese-held segment of the Burma road. Chinese guerrillas capture Sypinaw pass.

The picture was still grim for Chinese defenders of Lofang, former Chinese capital in northern Honan province. Furious infantry attacks both inside and outside the city are being met but Japanese forces are spinning a gigantic trap around Lofang. Southeast of the city, Chinese troops reportedly recaptured a 50-mile stretch of the Peiping-Hankow railroad.

Another trap, this time with the Japanese the victims, is being sprung in the Southwest Pacific. General MacArthur's headquarters said Americans spreading out from the new Hollandia-Aitape bases have contacted strong enemy patrols 34 miles southeast of Aitape. This narrowed to 200 miles the gap between the Yanks and Australian veterans striking northward from Madang.

Allied planes again blasted the Japanese on Wakde island north-west of Hollandia and hit the Schouten islands for the 13th consecutive day.

Central Pacific planes raided isolated Japanese bases in the Marshall islands.

live such lives, we can be certain his sacrifice will not have been in vain."

The committal is the same in both Protestant and Catholic service. The bodies are lowered slowly toward the sea as the chaplain reads: "We therefore commit his body to the deep in the sure and certain hope of resurrection . . ."

As he reads, the body slips quietly from beneath its American flag, into the sea.

Then there is the Lord's Prayer, and a benediction.

All the shipmates stand by, silent and bareheaded, while a bugler sounds taps; and you can see some of them are very near tears.

Then the executive officer himself—just about the most important man aboard ship—steps forward to receive the carefully folded flag. Carl's flag was saved for you, Mrs. Arbaugh; and the other for you, Mr. Schuetz.

No marble monuments, no raw earth mark the boys' graves—just the clean, beautiful, eternally restless Pacific. There were no flowers. None were needed. Each setting sun and soft white moon for many thousands of years have been deco-

Radio Programs

When invasion comes, the wire recorder, a device which puts sound on a wire for reproduction, apparently is to get much use in front-line broadcasting. Something of a preview is being given in the new Italian offensive.

NBC, which heretofore has employed similar transmissions only in rare instances, has cut it in on the network a few times. CBS, which also has a rule against recordings, expects to put on the recorder only where a line pickup is not available. The BLU and MBS, which do not restrict recordings to as great an extent, have used it more frequently.

With the recorder, the front-line broadcaster can do a pickup much closer to the scene of activity than if he tried to take along a radio microphone.

Orval Grove, White Sox Hurler, Evens Things With Yanks

HANDS NEW YORK SQUAD ITS FIRST SHUTOUT DEFEAT

Squares Things For No-Hitter Spoiled In 1943 Season

(By Associated Press) It took Orval Grove a year to get even but the Chicago White Sox right-hander today has squared his debt with the New York Yankees, who broke his nine-game win streak and ruined his no-hit bid in 1943.

Grove became the first pitcher to shut out the New Yorkers when he blanked them 4-0 with five hits yesterday.

Last July, Grove had a no-hitter with two out in the ninth when Joe Gordon's double spoiled it, and a few weeks later the world champs ruined his attempt for a tenth straight victory.

Washington muffed a chance to go into a virtual tie for the American league lead by bowing before Cleveland Vern Kennedy's four-hit effort, 4-2. Jeff Heath, with two singles and a double, and Oris Hockett with a triple and a pair of singles, sent Roger Wolff down for his first loss.

Buddy Hall's boot with the bases loaded cost Philadelphia's Athletics a 2-1 decision to Detroit, much to the dismay of 28,535 Quaker city fans who were trying to root the A's home for their seventh straight.

Boston split two with the St. Louis Browns, winning 5-1 behind Tex Hughes' four-hit hurling but losing after a wild scramble in the finale, 12-8. Joe Cronin of the Red Sox became a bench manager again, yielding first base to George Metkovich and appearing only as a pinch-hitter. By the split and Detroit's night win, the Sox plunged into the cellar.

Brooklyn might be last in the National if the Chicago Cubs were not putting up such a strong defense, for the Dodgers tumbled into seventh position after bowing to Pittsburgh, 8-5. The Brooks, having a poor road trip, came up with four runs in the sixth to grab the lead but the Pirates rallied with four in their half for an 8-5 margin before rain forced them to call it a night. Tommy O'Brien's triple with the bases loaded was the game-winning poke.

The Braves continued to get top-flight pitching as Red Barrett rocked the St. Louis Cardinals back on their heels with five blows for a 5-1 edge.

Bucky Walters turned from pitching to hitting and as a pinch batsman cracked a double that gave Cincinnati a 6-5 triumph over the Phils in a see-saw game called a moment after the hit in the eighth inning because of rain.

Joe Medwick and Danny Gardella paced the New York Giants' attack on five Chicago tossers for a 10-6 margin in a free-hitting game.

Bucky Walters, Reds—Delivered pinch-hit double in eighth inning to give Cincinnati 6-5 win over Phils.
Tommy Holmes, Braves—Boosted hit total to 37 with double and two singles in Braves' 11-hit attack on Cardinals.

Vern Kennedy, Indians—Parceled out four Washington hits as mates handed Roger Wolff his first loss.
Paul (Dizzy) Trout, Tigers—Stopped Philadelphia's six-game win streak, struck out six A's and scored one of team's two runs.

Horse Blinded In Race
NEW YORK—Smart Bet, a 7-year-old bay gelding owned by M. J. Wolfson, ran into the fence at Jamaica race track. He was favored, having won his first two starts of the season.
When the track veterinarian examined the horse he announced that the gelding went blind during the running of the race.

Works 3 No-Hitters

BOSTON—National League umpire Bill Stewart probably could tell a few interesting incidents about no-hit, no-run games. Jim Tobin's recent no-hitter for the Braves against the Dodgers was the third Stewart has worked. His others were Johnny Vander Meer's 1938 night game masterpiece for Cincinnati against Brooklyn, and Tex Carlton's 1940 shellacking of the Reds when he was with Brooklyn.

SOPHOMORES TAKE INTER-CLASS MEET

Salem High's Sophomores handed the Freshmen an 85 to 39 defeat yesterday in the annual inter-class meet as Sophomores Stoita and Kelly split individual honors with 16 1/2 points each.

Bob Little, another sophomore trackster, came through with 10 1/2 points and Bob Boone, Freshman star, received nine points to lead his classmates.
Good performances were turned in by Francis Lannay and Don Chappell but their points were not countable because both are lettermen on the varsity squad. Bill Ward, another varsity man, won the 220 low hurdles, 220 yard dash and was one of a winning half mile relay team.
Sophomore Krauss turned in a good time in the 100, doing the dash in just 10.6 seconds. McKee and Boone won the only Freshmen firsts in the entire meet. Boone topped first in the broad jump with a leap of 18 feet four inches. McKee won his first in the 440 yard dash.

KENNEDY'S FLOATER BESTS NATS TO END INDIAN BAD STREAK

Hurler Tosses Flutter Ball Effectively To Win Game 4-2

WASHINGTON, May 18—The Washington Nationals, who assembled a flock of knuckle-ball hurlers to baffle the opposition under the lights of Griffith stadium this season, had the strategy backfire last night as Vernon Kennedy and his flutter ball elbowed the Cleveland Indians to a 4 to 2 triumph.

The 35-year-old Missouri farmer snapped off his knuckler with such effect the Nats made only one single in the first seven innings and gathered only four over the nine-inning distance.

The Indians experienced the same trouble against Roger Wolff until the sixth when they tied the score at 1-all, but added three more runs in the eighth to clinch the game and end their six-game losing string.

Jeff Heath, whose leg still is lame, returned to the lineup and tied the score with a long double in the sixth and then broke the deadlock with his third hit in the eighth—a single that drove in the first of three runs in that inning.
The clubs end their series tonight, after which the Indians will move on to Philadelphia for a four-game set with the Athletics. Hal Kline, the Indians' 20-year-old southpaw, hurled against Emil (Dutch) Leonard, another knuckle-ball pitcher.

The first commissioned naval officer in the United States was in the Revenue Cutter service, forerunner of the present Coast Guard. He was commissioned by President George Washington.

NEW YORK, May 18— Overseas sports roundup:

PERSIAN GULF COMMAND

Sgt. Allen Lacombe, the No. 1 boxing promoter from Cairo to Teheran, types this report: "Boxing in the P. C. C. has been pretty good in the last month or so. I took 22 boys on tour of the command. The camps we appeared in did not have boxing teams before we went there, but as soon as we left all the camps started to organize teams. There is only one place that we can fight during the summer and that is Teheran. It is nice and cool up in the mountains where the camps are, so once a month I have to put on 12 fights up there, matching boys from all over the command. The only rough part about it is that we fellows stationed down in the southern part of Iran have to travel almost 850 miles to fight. The change of climate is murder; you can hardly breathe when you get up them mountains. And you have to travel fourth class or ride in box cars all the way, eating C rations, but the boys do not seem to mind it very much. In fact they raise hell if you cannot get them a match every time you go up there. When this war is over and all the boys turn pro and we have to ride the rods from town to town, up and down the kerosene circuit, we will be used to it."

Chief Warrant Officer Frank Hartley reports as follows to his old paper, the Louisville Times, on racing in North Africa: "It's confusing enough to buy a ticket which reads 20 francs, but which sells for 60 francs, or $120. It's even worse inside. . . . If you're lucky, you can find through the use of sign language and GI French that favorites aren't posted and there aren't, as a result, any opening odds. . . . So
